

The Greater Lowell Workforce Development Board Announces the Appointment of John Kovach to the Board

John Kovach is the Executive Vice President of Global Operations for Mack Technologies, an Electronics Manufacturing Services company in Westford, Ma. John has held several senior leadership positions at Mack over the past twenty years. Prior to Mack John was a Senior Vice President for a US division of Matsushita Kotobuki Electronics where he also studied Japanese quality management practices. Prior to that he was a Senior Vice President for Quantum Corporation, a California based disk drive company and before that he spent 17 years at Digital Equipment Corporation. John has served on several company boards and industry advisory committees.

John lives in Westford with his wife Rosemary of 44 years. They have 3 children and four grandchildren living in the area. John is a cycling enthusiast and studies French as a hobby.